FURNITURE FOR OUR GENERATION

Furniture for OUR generation:

The Brooklyn brownstone with the sliver view of Manhattan, the Mies Van der Rohe hi rise overlooking Lake Michigan, the converted brick warehouse south of Market in San Francisco... these are the dream spaces of our generation. We grew up in suburbia but now live surrounded by the excitement of the city. Our spaces reflect our lives today. We want furniture as interesting as these spaces, furniture that expresses our values, our lifestyles, our personalities.

We value sustainability. We turn old warehouses into lofts, so we care that the furniture we buy respects our environment and is made from plantation grown or reclaimed lumber.

We are young and have busy schedules. Our homes multi task as party spaces, work places, and weekend getaways. Our furniture also has multiple functions. A dining table becomes a desk when the work team comes over. The console doubles as a bar during impromptu parties. Coffee tables turn into benches when it gets crowded.

We search out finds that express our personalities and our quirks. New furniture sits next to flea market finds and our parent's antiques. We curate our home furnishings to tell our individual stories, so we look for something special in each piece we buy. Our furniture is creative, authentic and speaks to who we are and what we care about.
